There was not an official meeting in November as there was not enough unit representatives at the meeting, even counting the units that sent proxies. So there will be no minutes for November.

Forgotten History

Camels — Southwest deserts were so wide and dry that horses and mules suffered terribly when trying to cross it. The Army decided in 1853 to try camels, known for their ability to travel long distances without water, to supply the isolated frontier forts. The parched land had ravaged the ranks of soldiers and their horses and mules earlier in the century, with animals dying of thirst during long treks between watering holes. In 1853, U.S. Secretary of War Jefferson Davis asked Congress to import a shipload of camels from the Middle East and North Africa and, two years later, lawmakers appropriated $30,000 for a U.S. Camel Corps. The camels were flawless desert travelers but, despite their efficiency, the experiment was interrupted by new military priorities brought on by the Civil War. In 1866, the Army sold the camels to circuses, zoos and mining companies. To read more visit www.texascamelcorps.com

History has many faces. There are many facets to the story of the Civil War. Explore them all by reading, visiting sites and participating in events. The Civil War was the most pivotal event in the history of the United States. As a re-enactor I personally have found it to be more rewarding and fulfilling by doing these things. I know it is not always possible to get back East where most of the war was fought but reading about it is a start. So to be a great re-enactor I think we all need to learn as much history as possible. Share your knowledge with other re-enactors, open up new doors.

Tennessee

Built in 1854, the Niota Depot (pop. 781) Is the state's oldest railroad depot. During the Civil War, Union troops turned the depot into a fort, knocking out bricks so they could fire their rifles at passing Confederate soldiers. Today, the building houses Niota City Hall.

Battle of Collierville- Collierville, November 12-14. Re-enactors re-create the 1863 Battle of Collierville and the 1862 Battle of Fort Donelson during this event, which also includes period craft demonstrations, cannons and a grand Military Ball. Piperton Hills Ranch. (901-545-3364)

South Carolina:

Built about 1730, the Robert Brewton house in Charleston (pop 96,650) is the oldest "single house" – a multiple-story house that's one room wide, with the narrow side facing the street.

All hands report to the Monroe Gun Show

Put on by the Cascade Mountainmen Club, the Monroe Black Powder Gun Show, Monroe WA is scheduled for March 12-13, 2011, set up March 11, 2011 starting at noon.

The Gun Show would like the WCWA to come back again next spring. With nothing to do in March if you look at the WCWA schedule of events, other than a board meeting, pass the word and mark you calendar.

The USS Tahoma and the CSN Bat are ready to take on troops. We have a berth (space) at the show and depending on how many of us respond to this call will define what we can do at the show.

There is not a Navy only event. All are invited to get involved and recruit new members to our Club.

Admission to the show will be free for a select number that commit to attend and work the booth/be in demos.

This gun show is the biggest show of its kind in the US as I understand it. It will fill 3 or 4 of the larger barns at the Fair Grounds. Attendance is in the 1000s. Chances are you will be able to find things you can add to your kit at this gun show that you have not been able to find any other place. Pots, pans, lanterns, boxes, tables, tents, cloths, blankets and all sorts of tools and weapons. The time period is only 20 years early for us.

The Tahoma/Bat is planning to have its guns and the "show and tell" we have at regular major WCWA events. Our hope is we have enough of us to put on round robin gunnery, infantry and related demos and lectures. We would like to add infantry drill, manual of arms and civilian representatives this year to our presentation. Musicians and Medical are welcome. We will be holding our annual re-qualifications of gun crews and anyone is welcome to join in on this so you can galvanize with us for the year or find out what your big guns are doing during a battle.

This Show is a once a year opportunity of exposure of a lot of people who are already reenacting, only they don't know they are doing it. Don't pass up this opportunity.

Come as a unit. Come alone. Come for the day. Come for the weekend... But come.

Please contact Boat's (aka. Gunny), 503-357-7096, yankeejim@comcast.net so we can have a berth ready for you.

Presenting the Past to

A Rebel's Recipe Ann Clarke, 10th Virginia

Here's a winter treat for when you are sledding or building a snowman and you need to warm up. Get your grill out or have a fire pit with a grate.

Ingredients:

6 bananas, in the skin

½ cup chocolate chips

½ cup mini marshmallows

6 large graham crackers et or light your grill to medium heat, or build a small fire in pit. Make a long slit in banana from end to end, through the skin and down to, but not through the skin on the other side. Gently push in on either end to open the banana. Divide chocolate chips and mini marshmallows among bananas, pressing with your fingers to fit as much as possible. Wrap each banana in aluminum foil and place on the center of grill or around perimeter of fire. Cook 5 minutes, or until chips and marshmallows are melted and banana is warm. Serve immediately with graham crackers for dipping. Serves 6. Enjoy with the family!
